

Crybaby, Ma Bell wants her monopoly back.

We don't care. We don't have to.
We're the phone company." – Lili Tomlin

Dear Chairman Genachowski:

If AT&T wanted a private guard band in the Lower 700 MHz. spectrum band then AT&T should have bid for the lower A block spectrum in auction 73. But for AT&T to go behind the Commission's back and make its own private guard band using the Lower 700 MHz. A block spectrum on the dime of small business is like asking NextWave to return billions of dollars in spectrum it never paid for. Allowing AT&T to make its own private guard band post auction using A block spectrum we paid for is wrong and to allow this to continue would be a disgrace.

The facts are very clear interoperability can be restored without any harm and the benefits are overwhelmingly in the public interest. Now is a good time to restore interoperability in the Lower 700 MHz band before interoperability becomes an embarrassment to everyone.

¹Very Truly yours,

Vincent D. McBRIDE
Chairman and Chief Executive Officer
YaknChat Wireless